

SIX KILLED IN ALABAMA RACE WAR LAST NIGHT

PUT FIRECRACKER IN MOUTH; LITTLE BOY BADLY HURT

Wm. McGinnis, 9, Victim
Painful Accident:
Many Casualties

William McGinnis, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver McGinnis, 911 Kings Court, as the victim of a serious Fourth of July accident, the most serious to be reported in this vicinity over the holiday. The little fellow placed a two-inch firecracker in his mouth near his home last evening about 6 o'clock while playing with other boys, the cracker exploding and tearing deep gashes in his face.

Other boys are said to have prevailed upon the boy to put the cracker in his mouth and smoke it. When he placed the explosive in his mouth, another boy lit it and it exploded. He was rushed to the hospital where a number of stitches were required to close the deep rents in the flesh about his mouth. The inside of his mouth was also painfully burned and as soon as the wounds were dressed, tetanus serum was administered to prevent lock-jaw.

Reports from the hospital this morning indicated that the boy was resting comfortably and had been able to take some nourishment. The attending physician stated that his recovery was anticipated.

200 FATALITIES IN U. S.
The death toll from Fourth of July accidents neared 200 today as a United Press checkup brought reports of additional casualties from over the nation.

Traffic was the greatest disaster to the thousands who celebrated anniversary of the nation's birth. Almost 100 persons were killed in various sections of the nation. But the annual toll of life from fireworks greatly was diminished this year although more than a thousand persons—and the figure may approach 2,000—were treated for burns.

Airplanes accounted for seven deaths and there were many drownings reported as holidayists ventured to the lakes and streams for the outing.

More Fires Reported.
Although deaths from fireworks were diminished, the number of fires reported were on the increase in many cities. Denver reported 43 fire alarms, the greatest number in the city's history.

The desire to "get out of town" plainly was manifest, since major cities reported a small degree of fatalities and casualties while the states outside were greater in the number of accidents and casualties.

Fires were numerous and firemen spent their customary busy day. There were scores of fire calls in New York City, Chicago and other major cities, while Denver reported 43 alarms, an all time record.

MUSICAL TREAT ASSURED DIXON CHAUTAUQUANS

International Concert And Opera Co. Here On Second Day

The International Concert and Opera Company will provide the music for the second day of the Dixon Chautauqua—Wednesday, July 16.

In the afternoon the company will offer a half hour of music with the old masters, featuring the well known and greatly loved masterpieces of the world's greatest composers. Following this musical program and in contrast to it, American music will be discussed and illustrated by Alexius Bass.

Mr. Bass, who is at the head of a well known school of music will speak briefly of various American composers and their compositions, with members of the Company offering for the enjoyment of the audience some of the best numbers of each of the composers. Mr. Bass is not only a musical authority, but a singer of international reputation.

In the evening Mr. Bass will offer a program in two parts, the first part being a musical review featuring the song hits of recent successful Broadway musical productions. The second part of the program will be Gounod's great opera, Faust, appropriately costumed and staged, employing special lighting effects and three changes of scenery.

In the opera, Mr. Bass takes the part of Mephistopheles. Miss Eloise Drake, the possessor of a brilliant lyric soprano voice is equal to the heavy demands of the role of Marouette which she plays. Stanley Mornar, tenor, twice a winner in state radio audition contests, will sing the part of Faust, while Miss Dorothy Nommenson is cast in the double role of Siebel and Martha. Miss Margaret Otteison will provide all accompaniments at the piano.

With this splendid group of vocalists the second day of the 1930 Chautauqua will stand out as a genuine musical treat in every city on the circuit.

Endurance Champions Are Getting Offers

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

FINED $5 AND COSTS
Roses Miller of this city was arrested yesterday and taken before Justice J. O. Shaulis in police court where he was assessed a fine of $5 and costs on a charge of discharging fireworks in the streets of the city.

TOOK FIRST PRIZE
Arthur Sheffield of this city took first prize at the Fourth of July trap shoot at Sycamore yesterday, getting 96 out of a possible hundred birds and leading a big field of contestants. He was awarded a cash prize of $50 and also won a fine leather gun case for his day's work.

NEW FEATURE
In this issue of The Telegraph a new weekly feature, made possible by the merchants whose names appear thereon, is started—a page devoted to the churches of the city. Since there are sixteen churches in Dixon the page each week will alternately carry news of eight of them.

LEGION TEAM TO BYRAN
The Dixon Junior American Legion baseball team went to Byron this afternoon where they will play the champions of Ogle county. The Dixon Juniors are making a strong bid for the district championship and their right to this claim will be decided with this afternoon's game. Sheriff Ward Miller accompanied the team and will umpire the game.

COMPLAIN OF WEEDS
Members of the police department ceased to worry over firecrackers and other explosives at midnight last night and this morning another problem presented itself. It came in the form of the annual protest against noxious weeds on vacant lots throughout the city. The rains of the past few weeks have brought forth a record weed crop and police started this morning ordering owners of vacant lots to cut weeds.

IN JUSTICE COURT
Tucker Nehring of this city was arrested last night about 11 o'clock when Sheriff Ward Miller and deputies were summoned to Third street, west of the city limits, where it was reported that an attempt had been made to enter the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward May, who were away from home. Relatives discovered the cellar door broken open and three young men and a woman were said to have been in the back yard. Nehring was asleep in a car when the officers arrived and he was taken to the county jail and was to be given a hearing before Justice J. O. Shaulis this afternoon.

NEW TRUCK COMING
Dixon's new community fire truck will be delivered next week to the fire department. Fire Chief Tom Coffey this morning received word that the truck would leave the plant of the Boyer Fire Apparatus company at Logansport, Ind., next Thursday and will arrive in Dixon early Friday.

Chief Coffey has arranged to give a public demonstration of the new community fire truck Friday evening on the city parking space east of the Galena avenue bridge and all of the subscribers who have made possible the important addition to the protection of the community, are requested to attend the public demonstration and view the equipment of the new truck.

CAR TURNED OVER
D. G. Whitmore, J. R. Finnane, Miss Jane Porter and Miss Jayne Goff, all of Janesville, Wis., were cut and bruised, when the car in which they were coming toward Dixon, turned over on the route 2 paying at the curve just east of the Fred Hill farm Thursday evening at 9:30. All were brought to the Dixon hospital where their injuries were dressed. Miss Goff sustained deep cuts on the side of the face and J. R. Finnane suffered a deep cut in the calf of the right leg.

The car in which the two couples were riding was coming toward Dixon. (Continued on page 2).

TWO FATAL ACCIDENTS THURSDAY IN ROCHELLE: INJURIES TO FARM HAND ENDED IN DEATH: TRAIN KILLED BOY

Rochelle's second fatal accident Thursday occurred at 2:45 o'clock in the afternoon, when Eugene Nesbitt, aged 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nesbitt, was struck and instantly killed by an east-bound Northwestern passenger train, just about two hours after the death of Frank Scamp in the Glidden hospital at DeKalb, the result of injuries has sustained early this morning when his Ford coupe was thrown from the highway by a big livestock truck, driven by Russell Daily of Sterling.

The Nesbitt boy was hurled 50 feet by the speeding passenger train and was dead when picked up by witnesses of the accident. Eugene had been playing with Jack Bennington near the railroad tracks. Jack told authorities that Eugene ran around from behind a freight train and walked directly onto the passenger train tracks.

HUNTER BROTHERS, FORCED DOWN LAST EVE BY CLOGGED OIL LINE, BEGIN TO 'CASH'

Awoke at 11 A. M. Today and Accepted Offer From Theaters

Chicago, July 5—(AP)—Lounging in the lap of leisure after 23 days spent in an airplane for a new world's refueling endurance flight record, those Hunter brothers slept the sleep of the exhausted until after 11 A. M. today when they rose in their exclusive suite in a loop hotel to scan the numerous offers of cash and contracts to reward for the feat.

After bringing their second-hand monoplane to earth at 5:21 1-2 P. M. yesterday afternoon—553 hours, 41 1-2 minutes in the air—the endurance fliers, John and Kenneth, first sought rest and awoke refreshed to face the task of accepting their reward.

Accepting the offer of a contract to appear in a talking movie, the boys awoke this morning, they each found a new bed with a $100 bill attached as the gift of a bed manufacturer.

Earnings Now $25,000
Having already earned about $25,000, the Hunter brothers hesitated to estimate what their new world's endurance record would ultimately mean to them in the way of riches. The $10,000 offered them by the oil company sponsoring their flight is contingent upon appearances the Hunters must make at various headquarters of the oil firm.

They earned more than $7,000 from the malt extract company, under whose auspices they broadcast by radio during the flight and their share of the gate receipts amounted to more than $5,000. Other offers and gifts swelled the total.

The fliers were served today with "summons in the receivership suit by which stockholders of the old "Chicago We Will" Corporation, claiming ownership of the plane, seek to tie up its earnings.

The finish of the record flight came at 5:21:30 (CST) last night, John and Kenneth Hunter, who rose from the plough to the plane, landed in the Fourth of July twilight at Sky Harbor airport with a world's refueling endurance record of 533 hours, 41 minutes and 30 seconds blazed on the wings of their "City of Chicago."

The end was as unexpected as the beginning 23 days ago was inauspicious.

A clogged filter stopped the oil flow; the motor was seared from lack of lubrication; a hurried landing was made and the old record of 420:21:30 was left 133 hours and 20 minutes behind.

Holiday thousands who had jammed the airport since early day floundered in the suddenness of the descent.

They had just seen the endurance ship succored by the "Big Ben," the providing plane manned by Albert Hunter, two more of the brothers who tried to fly in the pastures of the farm home at Sparta, Ill.

Covered With Oil
Thousands thought the "City of Chicago" was set for another night of monotony; they could not see the oil spurting back onto the fliers instead of flowing into the overheated motor. They did not know the Hunters could do naught but end their more than three weeks of interrupted flight.

So many planes pock-marked the air that the blue monoplane, "City of Chicago," sped to within 100 feet of the ground before it was noticed. Then came the spontaneous combustion of human enthusiasm.

The mob milled to the center of the field, ignoring the death-sweep of the plane's propeller. John Hunter at the controls outwitted the pack, taxied to the far southwest corner of the field, back-tracked his trail twice, pivoted and then skirted the north of the field into the hangar.

Officers Helpless.
But the pack was near its quarry. Police and airport officials were helpless and the Spartans of the air were besieged in the hangar. Officials of the National Aeronautical Association managed to muscle in and grab the barograph. Protection for the

Mrs. Della Vail Is Called This Morn
Mrs. Della Vail passed away at her home, 504 Ottawa Ave., at 7:30 o'clock this morning after an illness of some duration. Funeral services will be held at the Jones funeral home Monday morning at 9:30. Rev. W. W. Marshall officiating, with burial at Marengo, where the body will be taken overland.

Two Fatal Accidents Thursday in Rochelle: Injuries to Farm Hand Ended in Death: Train Killed Boy
Rochelle's second fatal accident Thursday occurred at 2:45 o'clock in the afternoon, when Eugene Nesbitt, aged 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nesbitt, was struck and instantly killed by an east-bound Northwestern passenger train, just about two hours after the death of Frank Scamp in the Glidden hospital at DeKalb, the result of injuries has sustained early this morning when his Ford coupe was thrown from the highway by a big livestock truck, driven by Russell Daily of Sterling.

Jack told authorities that Eugene ran around from behind a freight train and walked directly onto the passenger train tracks.

FOSTER TO START TRIP TO CHICAGO TO FACE CHARGES

Gangster Will Leave Los Angeles in Custody Of Detectives

Los Angeles, July 5—(UP)—Frank Foster, gangster, and accused as the owner of the gun used to murder Alfred "Jake" Lingle in Chicago, will begin his return trip to Illinois Monday night to face charges in connection with the killing, officers announced today.

Foster is held in the county jail while Chicago officers arranged for extradition papers to be signed by Governor C. C. Young at his summer offices here. The gangster, who allegedly came here to lay foundations for a beer ring, was indicted by the Chicago grand jury in connection with the Lingle murder after he was arrested in a raid by Los Angeles police.

George Dais, another Chicago gangster, identified as George Kirschenbaum by Detroit information, was held in solitary confinement in the city jail as the result of an attempt to escape Thursday.

While seeking possible clues to Foster's activities here, police investigated the disappearance of three specially made guns from the apartment in which Foster was arrested. The guns were similar to the Lingle murder weapon and police hoped they would serve as a means of linking Foster still closer with the slaying.

GANGSTERS FORFEIT BONDS.
Chicago, July 5—(UP)—Jack Zuta, Aiello-Moran gang chief, failed to appear in court to answer a disorderly conduct charge today, despite permission to come in an armored automobile with all the guards he needs to protect him from assassination, and his arrest forthwith was ordered.

Sol Visson and Leona Bernstein, two of Zuta's companions during the State street gun battle when a street car motorman was killed, also were absent when their case was called. Judge Joseph L. McCarthy ordered the trio's bonds forfeited and issued a capias for their arrest.

Zuta's other friends, Albert Bratz was granted a continuance until Aug. 12 when police told the judge they wanted him as a material witness to aid them in identifying the three gangsters who tried to assassinate Zuta.

Clues Point to Morans.
Every trail which the board has followed the last few weeks in attempting to track down the slayer of the $65 a week Tribune reporter whose racketeering income was said to have been $60,000 a year, has led them toward the north side where the Morans and the Aiello rule.

Zuta, arrested for questioning in the Lingle murder, was held a day, then released under $400 bond. He was afraid to leave the police station, explaining he "did not think he would get across the loop alive."

Police Lieut. George Barker offered him an escort. On State street, Barker's car was attacked by gunmen, and one innocent bystander was killed and another wounded. During the shooting, Zuta disappeared.

Now, the board believes, if Zuta would explain the attack upon him, his explanation might prove of value in clearing up the Lingle case. Zuta, however, remained in hiding, both from the police and rival gangsters.

Lindbergh Record Still Unbroken
New York, July 5—(UP)—The one-stop transcontinental speed record set by Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh last Easter still stood today despite the attempt by a former classmate of Lindbergh to beat it.

James H. Collins, former Army pilot, who learned to fly with Lindbergh at Brooks Field, landed at Roosevelt field at 10:30 last night, nearly two hours behind the record of 14 hours, 45 minutes and 32 seconds, after fighting head winds all the way from Los Angeles.

FATHER OF STATE DIST. HIGHWAY ENGINEER O. F. GOEKE DROPS DEAD WHILE AT WORK AT HOME IN DAVIS

Henry Goeke, of Davis, aged 87, father of State District Highway Engineer O. F. Goeke, of this city, and a life-long resident of Stephenson county, dropped dead Thursday morning while plowing corn for Miss Lena Edna, a neighbor, who discovered his body in the corn field when she went to investigate the reason for the team having stood still for a considerable time.

ALABAMA TOWN SCENE OF BATTLE AND LYNCHING

Four Negroes And Two Whites are Killed In Gun Fighting

Emelle, Ala., July 5—(AP)—Six persons are dead today in a race war, which flared in a gun battle, the lynching of a Negro and the burning of a Negro dwelling. Two of those killed were white men. The others were Negroes.

The dead: G. T. Boyd, white. A man named Marrs, white. Jean Robertson, Negro. Three unidentified Negroes.

A quarrel between Clarence Boyd, a nephew of G. T. Boyd, and a Negro to whom the Boyds had sold an automobile battery was credited by officers as starting the riot.

After the argument the Negro left the Boyd place of business, and returned later with two other Negroes, who renewed the quarrel.

One of the Negroes struck Clarence Boyd on the head with a bottle and as the elder Boyd came to his nephew's rescue, he was shot four times in the back by one of the Negroes.

Besieged Refuge
All three Negroes then sought refuge in the house of John Robertson, a Negro. The home was immediately surrounded by a crowd of white people. In an exchange of shots between Negro occupants of the house and a group of white men on the outside, Marrs and Robertson were killed and two Negroes were wounded.

With the death of Marrs, a rush was made on the Negro's house and the building was set afire. When the fire died down, the embers were seared and the bodies of two Negroes were found.

Intermittent battles between whites and blacks, but with no bloodshed, continued through yesterday afternoon and last night, while search was continued for the Negro alleged to have shot G. T. Boyd.

Posses were formed to search the section around Emelle for the slayer.

One Negro Lynched
This morning the body of one Negro alleged to have been one of the ring leaders in the race riot, was found hanging to a tree near here.

He was said to have been the Negro who hit Clarence Boyd with a bottle during the first argument. Officials said he had been dead for some time when found.

Sheriff W. G. Scales of Sumter county today was leading the posesses in search of the Negro slayer, although some officials expressed the belief that the man might have been one of the Negroes burned to death in the Robertson house.

Emelle is a small mining community in Sumter county in west central Alabama, near the Mississippi-Alabama line. The population is between 200 and 300, mostly Negroes.

The injured are Clarence Boyd and a man named Ayers, both white.

TWO KILLED IN FEUD
Wright, Ky., July 5—(UP)—A year-old feud between the Gross and Whitt families was blamed by county police today for the killing of George Gross, 60, and his son, Bert, 18, who were shot to death in a gun battle with members of the Whitt family in the Wright general store, Independence Day.

Several customers were in the store when Gross and his son entered and engaged in an argument with Clarence Whitt and other members of his family. Pistols were drawn and while customers ducked behind counters, the disputants began firing.

A coroner's jury was convened today to investigate. Residents here said members of the two families had engaged in previous fights, the cause of which was not learned.

Seek Plane Which Plunged Into Sea
Alameda, Cal., July 5—(UP)—Dragging operations were under way in San Francisco Bay today to recover an airplane which was believed to have carried several persons to death.

The plane, according to pilots James Hennessy and Roy Varney, at the controls of a ferry airplane aloft at the time, said the mystery ship plunged from an altitude of 1,000 feet and struck the water with its engine roaring.

Bills of wreckage cluttered the bay after the crash, but the body of the plane evidently plunged to the bottom soon after it struck the water.

LIKES VARIED DIET
Denver—(UP)—Although only four months old, Albert Scheneman believes in a varied diet. Physicians at Denver General Hospital found several bolts and nuts were the cause of his stomach ache.

Flight Facts

Chicago, July 5—(UP)—Statistics of the world's record breaking flight of the Hunter brothers' airplane "City of Chicago" are as follows:

Name of plane—The City of Chicago.

HUNTER BROS. FORCED DOWN LAST EVENING

plane was finally established and souvenir hunters were denied even a speck of the oil that splashed the fuselage and wings.

The world soon knew of the descent; a radio man plunged through with a microphone and John and Kenneth Hunter greeted the nation as champions.

Reporters and cameramen had to fight for their midst, and pictures. The first flash was elicited off luckily before bedlam broke loose; then their wire setups were torn asunder in the confusion, and it was several minutes before the wires could be repaired and the story of a new record telegraphed to waiting editors and the world.

It was fully ten minutes before the fliers could escape into the hangar office. There they had their first chance to relax—if relaxation could be had amidst the flashlight flares and reporters' questions.

Their rest was brief. They were escorted onto the roof of the hangar, along with their brothers of the refueling plane. The din on the field was terrific; thousands of yells and more thousands of automobile horns and firecrackers. When hoarseness caused a brief lapse, it was announced the fliers would be taken to a loop hotel for a night of rest.

Followed By Crowds.
Planked by motorcycle police, followed by miles of cars, the fliers began their march of triumph. It was a glorious ending. A motorcycle policeman fell off his mount in excitement—but he wasn't hurt.

Kenneth had to borrow a pair of trousers before he could remove his oil-spattered overalls; he had torn up a trouser leg for a wiping rag. Neither had bathed since they left the earth. June 11—two unknown aviators, who had worked with brothers Albert and Walter in a coal mine to earn their first plane.

Kenneth showed the disappointment of the forced landing, but admitted it would have been too perilous to stay up longer.

"We had hoped to keep on until tomorrow," he said, "but when the oil screen became clogged and the gauge quit, the only thing to do was to come down."

"The little old motor sure did more than we expected," said brother John, "and except for the oil trouble was just as sound when we came down as when we went up."

It was the clogged filter that sent the brothers low over the field shortly before their descent, thinking they were short of oil and urging an immediate contact. The "Big Ben" went aloft at once, oil was let down, poured into the line but it spurted on the fliers. The motor was near the burning point and the plane did not have altitude enough to permit tinkering with the filter.

Fearing Crack Up.
Fearing a crackup, the fliers decided to land.

Both brothers were dead for sleep and showed it; reporters had to repeat questions several times; but they waked.

"We didn't have a chance to think about how we felt in the air," John said. "The radio was our only recreation. Tomorrow at noon, I'll be waking but I have no other plans until I get a good night's sleep and see how it feels to have my feet on the ground again."

But the good night's sleep didn't begin early. Long after midnight—bathed, barbered and dressed in comfort again—the brothers were still up at a banquet rushed on them by airport and airline officials, sponsors of the flight and friends. John explained that in the new flight they make a dual oil screen will be installed to prevent accidents as that of yesterday.

He added that if their record is broken and another attempt by them is made, brothers Walter and Albert may be the endurance crew and he and Kenneth the refueling pilots.

For the immediate future, their hopes are centered mainly on a non-stop refueling flight around the borders of the United States.

Flown approximately 70,000 miles before its present flight began, the "City of Chicago" is a second-hand Stinson-Detroler cabin monoplane, powered with a Wright whirlwind 300 horsepower motor. It is two years old.

HOLIDAY WAS CELEBRATED AT STATE HOSPITAL

Record Crowd Witnessed Fire Works In The Evening

The rapidly increasing popularity of the Fourth of July celebrations planned and carried out each year by the officers and the employees of the Dixon state hospital, was evidenced yesterday afternoon and evening by the record throng of people who spent several hours at the institution. There were more than 5,000 visitors on the grounds last evening to view the fine display of fireworks and together with the patients and employees enjoyed the program to the fullest extent.

By actual count, there were 1,116 automobiles parked on the grounds for the evening band concert, and fireworks display. Every one of these cars was parked in orderly fashion and all left the grounds without an accident. Hundreds of cars were on the grounds during the afternoon the occupants enjoying the program of contests and band concert. Daylight fireworks were a feature of the afternoon program and the display last evening was the finest that has ever been shown at the institution.

Three Negroes Lost Second Plea Today

Springfield, Ill., July 5.—(UP)—Three Negroes, summoned to be electrocuted at Chicago July 25 for the alleged murder of a policeman, were denied the right to file a second petition for a rehearing of their cases before the state Supreme Court today.

The first petition of the condemned men was denied about ten days ago. Under the rules of the court a second rehearing petition is not allowable unless substantial new evidence accompanies it. Employees of the court acknowledged receipt of the petition today but notified the Negroes' attorneys that it was not acceptable for filing.

The three Negroes are Leon Brown, Lafon Fisher and Leonard Shadow. They were convicted of slaying Martin French, a policeman, and based their original appeal to the Supreme Court on the grounds that they were denied separate trials in the lower court.

Their only recourse now is to appeal to the state Board of Pardons and failing that, the Governor L. I. Emmerson.

Bull Ran Amuck On Ferry Boat Today

New York, July 5.—(UP)—A champion Quaker boy suddenly went berserk today aboard the Brooklyn Staten Island ferry boat, Nassau, chased a truck driver and the ferry's first mate all over the boat, then jumped through a glass window into the waters of the upper bay and disappeared.

The bull, the property of Lewis Satterthwaite of Newton, Pa., who was bringing him to Brooklyn to be shipped to Europe, broke out of his crate on a truck just as the ferry left its slip and took out after the truck driver, only to be diverted when the mate dove into the water, chasing the mate awhile the bull decided to leave the boat and dove through the window.

Police boats and launches, notified of the occurrence, searched several hours for the bull without avail.

President Summons Leaders To Parley

Orange, Va., July 5.—(UP)—President Hoover has summoned several Republican Senatorial leaders to his rapid camp for the week-end, presumably for a discussion, principally, measures to remove Claudius Huston as Chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Senator Fess, Ohio, who has been mentioned recently as a possible successor to Huston, arrived today from the Capital. Republican floor leader Watson, Assistant Leader McNary and Senator Walcott, Conn., were expected later.

Rumors of Huston's imminent retirement from direction of the National Committee have been flying thick and fast about the Capital, but the Tennessee, former close friend and associate of Mr. Hoover, has given no signs that he intends to quit his posts, despite the criticism of him ever since the Senate Lobby investigation.

FLYING AUTO TREED
Porterville, Cal.—(UP)—Dr. G. R. Wells and L. P. Ford were saved from death only when an automobile in which they were driving perched in a tree after a brief career as a bird. Dr. Wells was driving the car on the Camp Nelson road when the machine went off the road toward a gully 200 feet below. The car landed in a tree and was lodged above the gully. Neither of the men was seriously hurt.

Springfield Scene Of Mystery Blast

Springfield, Ill., July 5.—(UP)—A mysterious explosion which blew up one home and caused serious damage to three adjoining houses, here last night, was investigated by the State Fire Marshal's office today. Two persons, Mrs. Caroline De Prates, 75, and Walter, 19, her grandson, were injured, the former seriously.

The blast occurred shortly before midnight. Neighbors of Charles Pierra declared they saw an automobile drive up to his driveway previous to the explosion. Shortly after it left, the explosion, believed to have been caused by a bomb, happened.

Walls of the house, a frame structure, collapsed and the building burst into flames.

The blaze set fire to three adjoining houses and it was from one of these that Mrs. De Prates and her grandson were rescued. She was from her bed by the force of the blast and seriously hurt. The boy suffered cuts on a foot.

Pierra told police he was at a loss to explain the bombing.

Chicago Swept By Hard Storm Today

Chicago, July 5.—(UP)—An electrical rain storm swept down upon Chicago today, flooding streets, interrupting street car traffic and causing five fires. More than thirty buildings, mostly homes, were struck by lightning. No one was injured.

Basements were filled with the back wash from the overflowing and inadequate sewer systems. Viaducts were feet deep in water necessitating the abandoning of automobiles and street cars caught in the flood. More than an inch of rain fell in the short space of three or four hours.

Radio antennae were blamed for most of the damage caused by bolts of lightning striking homes. In one instance six fire trucks hurried to an alarm box to find the key inside but the glass door unbroken. Spectators claimed a lightning bolt had struck the box and turned in its own alarm.

Postmaster Killed By Bandits Friday

Monticello, Ky., July 5.—(UP)—An intensive search was under way in this section today for bandits who shot and killed Postmaster Thomas Jones, 53, of Pueblo, east of here after robbing the postoffice. Jones' father, Richard, 81, was badly beaten. The bandits invaded the postoffice while other members of Jones' family were in Monticello, attending an independence celebration.

As British Shelled Indian Rebels

First Pictures of Fighting In Mohmand Hills

Authorities reported all quiet along the northwestern front in troubled India, but these NEA-Dixon Telegraph photos show how actual military instead of police methods were used against a war-like tribe near Peshawar. In the upper picture, English and native troops are on the parapet of Matta Post, watching and directing a bombardment against the rebel, Badshah Gul. Note the protective sand-bag barricade. Lower left is a view of the fort from which howitzers were used. One of the armored cars used in the fighting in the Mohmand Hills is pictured lower right.

BILLINGS' PLEA DENIED BY HIGH COURT'S FINDING

It Will Likely Mean That Mooney Also Must Stay In Prison

Los Angeles, July 5.—(UP)—Warren K. Billings today faced the realization that he must spend the rest of his life in Folsom Prison, but Tom Mooney, in San Quentin, still pinned hopes on a conference Gov. C. C. Young will hold today on Mooney's plea for a pardon.

Billings' fate was sealed by the State Supreme Court in refusing to recommend that the Governor act on his application. Mooney, convicted with Billings of murder in connection with the 1916 Preparedness Day bombing in San Francisco, still may be pardoned under the law by the Governor.

Governor Young will discuss the case with Lieutenant Governor H. L. Carnahan. He previously stated he would be guided in the Mooney case largely by the court's action on Billings, believing the evidence in both was parallel.

Billings, a "two-time" lower, was allowed by law to seek a pardon only through the Supreme Court, which recommended it for denial to the Governor. Mooney, serving his first term, could appeal directly to the Governor, who may act as he sees fit.

Six Judges Concur
Six of the seven Supreme Court Justices concurred in the opinion. The seventh, W. H. Langdon, dissented, but said the court opinion was so overwhelmingly against him he saw no reason to state his basis for dissenting.

A majority report signed by Chief Justice William H. Waste and Associate Justices held in effect that if Billings was not guilty of the bombing he knew who was and had failed to reveal this knowledge. Furthermore, they held, Billings' pardon application made no effort to establish him as innocent of the crime but sought merely to show irregularities in the manner in which he was convicted.

The bombing, which claimed nine lives and wounded forty, took place while the parade was proceeding along Market Street. Mooney and Billings were arrested shortly afterward and tried twice on the murder charges. Billings was sentenced to life imprisonment and Mooney was sentenced to hang. On intervention of President Wilson, Gov. William D. Stephens commuted Mooney's sentence to life imprisonment.

RECONCILIATION OF HELENE AND CAROL, REPORT

Bucharest Paper Says Divorce Will Be Annulled Soon

Bucharest, July 5.—(UP)—King Carol II of Roumania will file a petition next week to annul the divorce granted Princess Helen two years ago, the newspaper Lupta said today.

An announcement of a reconciliation between the King and his former wife will be made at the same time, the newspaper said.

The newspaper said Carol recently has spent several hours every day at Helen's palace, enjoying the company of the Princess and Crown Prince Michael, Carol's 8-year-old son who was deposed as King when Carol returned from exile in France.

Hele and Michael were expected to leave for the summer palace at Sinaia immediately, and Carol will follow them within a week.

Helen obtained a divorce from Carol when he abandoned her and went to live in France with Mme. Magda Lupescu, auburn-haired Roumanian commoner. On Carol's return and accession to the throne, Helen at first refused to accept him back as her husband, and strenuous efforts were made to win her favor, with Dowager Queen Marie assisting.

Vienna, July 5.—(UP)—A Bucharest dispatch to the newspaper Extrablatt said today that Mme. Magda Lupescu, former mistress of King Carol II, of Roumania, had arrived at Sinaia, the site of the Roumanian royal summer palace.

The dispatch added that Carol planned to go to Sinaia during the coming week end.

Bluejacket Killed By Chinese Bandits

Washington, July 5.—(AP)—The Navy was advised today of the death of a bluejacket, Samuel Elkins of Brooklyn, N. Y., in an encounter between Chinese bandits and the United States gunboat Guam yesterday at Yochow, Hunan, China.

Two messages, confirming unofficial advices from Shanghai that such an engagement had taken place during the looting of Yochow by bandits were received.

The State Department will be notified of the conflict. Details were not made public immediately.

The American Legation at Peiping already had been instructed to make "urgent protests" against treatment reported received by American citizens at Siping, Honan, China. Frank P. Lockhart, Consul General at Hankow, reported American missionaries were driven through the streets there with sticks.

SOUTHEHRN CROSS REACHED END OF JOURNEY FRIDAY

Flight Around World Is Terminated at Oakland's Airport

Oakland Airport, Oakland, Calif., July 5.—(UP)—The internationally famous monoplane Southern Cross has reached the end of the trail.

While its skipper, Lieut. Col. Kingsford-Smith, who was made a Wing Commander in the Australian Air Service in recognition of his transatlantic flight, gained a few hours of rest here today, the Southern Cross was at the airport from which the flight around the world was started on May 31, 1931.

Kingsford-Smith brought the old tri-motored Fokker plane back to Oakland airport yesterday afternoon, landing at 3:27 P. M. (P. C. T.), after a transcontinental journey which followed the landing in New York from Fort Marnock, Ireland.

He proclaimed the event as happy as any he had ever experienced, comparing it with the joy of being rescued from a mud flat near Port George Mission when he had been missing 14 days on a flight from Sidney, Australia to London.

To Wed in September.
He will leave California within the next two weeks and go to New York. Then he will sail for Australia by way of England and in the latter part of September he will be married to Miss Mary Powell.

The flight around the world was divided into three stages. After leaving here the Southern Cross reached Honolulu in 27 hours and 28 minutes, jumped 3,200 miles from Honolulu to Suva, Fiji Islands, in 34 hours and 33 minutes. From there to Brisbane, Australia, in 21 hours and 18 minutes.

On June 25, 1931, Major Kingsford-Smith made his second start for England, 12,000 miles away, and he reached London 12 days and 21 hours and 18 minutes later, setting a record.

The Southern Cross left Ireland a week ago last Monday and went to Harbor Grace, N. F., in 31 hours and 35 minutes. A flight of 15 hours and 26 minutes carried it to New York.

The only living relative of the giraffe is the okapi, found in the Congo forest. For a time it was thought to be related to the zebra.

ATTEMPTS RIDE OVER NIAGARA IN NEW BARREL

Greek Chef Embarked On Dangerous Trip This Afternoon

BULLETIN.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 5.—(UP)—The giant barrel carrying George Stathakis, Buffalo chef, hurtled over Niagara Falls within a few feet of the Canadian end at 3:30 P. M. today in full view of hundreds of persons gathered there to see the feat.

The barrel swept down the river on the crest.

Spectators gasped as the barrel dove into view and swept toward the Canadian shore. Suddenly it veered toward the center of the stream and struck the hulk of an old barge caught in the rocks just above the cataract.

It bounded off like a rubber ball and in another second was at the brink. It passed over travelling like a thrown baseball and disappeared into the mist which always obscures the base of the Horse Shoe.

Rivermen expected it would require an hour to get the barrel out and determine the fate of its strange occupant, a combination author and chef, who has never before undertaken anything adventuresome.

"Red" Hill, veteran riverman, who a few weeks ago shot the lower rapids in a barrel similar to Stathakis', was on hand to make the rescue. Knowing all the vagaries of the Niagara currents as no other man does, he was engaged for the task by Stathakis' friends.

Three persons have previously conquered the falls and lived to tell it.

Annie Edson Taylor plunged over on October 24, 1901; Bobby Leach repeated the trick on July 25, 1911, and Jean Lussier went over in a rubber ball in 1928. Leach suffered injuries that confined him to a hospital for months, but the other two escaped without serious injury.

An English barber tried to go over in 1918, but lost his life.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 5.—(UP)—Stathakis, Greek chef, expected to crawl into a specially-built barrel today for a ride over Niagara Falls, with the ultimate object of revealing to the American people the secret of life.

Whether the American people receive the secret of life or Stathakis discovers the secret of death will depend in the barrel. Many other persons have attempted to ride over the falls in barrels, and some have succeeded. The barrel which Stathakis will use is made of three-inch quarter oak one layer over another, with cork padding between. Inside is an oxygen tank, thick padding, and a harness to hold the occupant in place.

He was towed down the Niagara river shortly before 2:30 P. M. from Navy Island, Ont., whence he had been taken from here early this afternoon.

The crew of the tow boat planned to cut him loose within a half hour for his trip over the Horse Shoe falls. The river bank was lined with curious crowds although the enterprise had but slight advance publicity. Niagara Falls officials estimated that 20,000 persons were waiting there to see the barrel pass into the cataract. Navy Island is about eight miles above the falls.

Canoe Tour To End At Lowell Tomorrow

The annual Fourth of July cruise of the United States Canoe Association will terminate Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Lowell Park beach, when the fleet of canoists will have completed their cruise from Rockford down Rock river. The canoists will paddle into the port dressed in gay and varied colors prepared to furnish a fine program of aquatic sports.

Some of the champion canoists of the central west will participate in the cruise and some thrilling stunts are promised during the afternoon. Many of the canoes will be loaded on trailers at the Lowell Park beach and returned to Chicago and other points.

Yesterday afternoon it was estimated that more than 7,000 automobiles were parked on a single day. It is expected that another large turnout will be present tomorrow to witness the unique program furnished by the visiting canoists.

Busy Bees 4-H Club in Meeting
The Busy Bees 4-H Club met with Mrs. Daum July first from 10:00 to 12:00 o'clock. It was decided at this meeting to let the secretary keep the position as club reporter.

Irene Daum sang a song "How Do You Do Busy Bees," of which the words were her own composing. Margaret Luke gave a short talk on "The Care of Eyes and Throat." All of the members were glad to have Mrs. Seyverud present. She told the members about the future contests.

After the talk the meeting adjourned after having spent a good time.

Dixon's Chautauqua Being Represented

Mrs. Herman Rasch and Miss Mason, representative of The Central Chautauqua, visited Thursday. In the interest of Dixon's Chautauqua the following towns, Ambly, Oregon, Ashton, Franklin Grove and Sterling.

They report being enthusiastically received, as all the Sterling are without Chautauqua this year and are looking forward to visiting beautiful Assembly Park, as well as the good Chautauqua program. Although Sterling has a Chautauqua some of her people are planning to attend Dixon's program too, and the programs being different makes this neighborly exchange advantageous to both towns.

Lovely Garden at John Keegan Home

Mrs. and Mr. John Keegan, who live on Route 26 just beyond the curve at Cavanaugh's corner have one of the fine gardens of this vicinity. It is well worth a visit by all lovers of flowers. Their delphiniums, raised from English seed, are marvels of size and color. There are also other rare plants of great interest and beauty. During this week this garden will be open to the public and all who visit it will enjoy a rare treat indeed.

ENTERTAINED GUESTS AT LOWELL PARK

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Reagan and Mrs. Neil and Ronald and the guests of the Reagan family, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Lockhart, and Mrs. O. G. Baldwin of Clinton, Ia., and Mr. and Mrs. Matt Baldwin of Prophetstown and Miss Alcorn of Chicago, spent a happy day at Lowell Park on the Fourth of July, with a delicious picnic dinner at noon.

FATHER AND MRS. STORY GUESTS HERE

Father and Mrs. G. Carlton Story, who have many friends in Dixon and vicinity, are here from Morgan Park, guests of Dr. and Mrs. Warren J. Murray over the Fourth of July and the week-end.

A CHANGEABLE CHILD

E. R. B. Class Picnic Thursday Evening

Members of the E. R. B. class of St. Paul's Lutheran Bible School, with their families and friends to the number of sixty-five drove to the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Switzer of Harmon. Thursday evening and enjoyed a picnic dinner at 7 o'clock. Dividing the vegetable garden from the spacious lawn of the Switzer home, is a huge bank of hollyhocks, some standing 10 feet high, and all in gorgeous bloom.

Against this wall of beautiful color the tables for the dinner were arranged. A profusion of garden flowers decorated all the tables. After a short prayer by W. E. White superintendent of the Sunday School, the guests were seated at the tables. Escalloped chicken was the meat served, the rest of the menu comprised dishes of delicious food of every variety that can be prepared.

Later in the evening a program was given, the guests arranging their chairs in a semi-circle on the lawn and the porch of the Switzer home being used as a stage from which those taking part gave their numbers. The bright moonlight shining over the flowers and lawn gave a truly fairy like setting for this. The program was very much enjoyed and was as follows:

Piano Solo—Miss Jessie Switzer.
Trombone Solo—Miss Viola Switzer.
Piano Solo—Miss Edna Fisher.
Vocal Duet—The Misses Edna and LaNora Switzer.
Vocal Duet—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Auman.

Reading—Mrs. Roy Raffenberg.
Reading—Mrs. Austin George.
Reading—Mrs. Tobias Switzer.

In closing the guests were asked to stand and all sang one verse of America.

So. Dixon Community Club Met Monday

The South Dixon Community club met at the home of Mrs. Alfred Tourtellot with a good attendance, the home being beautifully decorated with spring flowers. The meeting was opened by the club singing two songs. Minutes of meeting were read and roll was given. It was then decided to have the club picnic July 13 and all the members are invited to come each home to bring his own sandwiches and two food dishes. The place for the picnic to be with Mrs. Arnold.

The program committee took charge after the business meeting and a lovely program was enjoyed. A reading by Mrs. McCleary. A recipe comedy by Mrs. Robt. Lievan, a song by Harriet Tourtellot, then a guessing contest which was very interesting, was won by Mrs. Walter Orgieson. A needle threading contest being won by Mrs. Stahl. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess with Mrs. McCleary and Mrs. Stahl assisting. The guests departed thanking Mrs. Tourtellot for the very pleasant day spent at her home. The next meeting will be held in four weeks with Mrs. Robt. Lievan.

St. James Aid Had Meeting Wednesday

The St. James Aid Society members were entertained Wednesday, July 2nd, at the home of Mrs. Burton Reed in an all-day meeting. Mrs. Wilbur Maves was the assisting hostess. At noon thirty-five members and friends enjoyed the delicious picnic dinner by all singing, "Best Be the Tie." She then read from the 120th Psalm, and then the 23rd Psalm was repeated. The treasurer gave her report. It was voted to not hold a meeting in August, but to have a picnic for all the families Sunday, Aug. 3rd, at Lawrence Park. A report was given of the donation Charles Whitebread made the Aid Society and church. The meeting was then turned over to the program committee. Mrs. Reed gave a reading which was enjoyed. Mrs. Bremer gave a reading. Mrs. Bahen then favored us with a humorous reading and responded to an encore. Roll call was answered at this meeting with helpful household hints and some very good advice and ideas were given. The meeting was closed by all repeating the Lord's Prayer. Everyone enjoyed the day at the Reed home very much.

The September meeting will be held with Mrs. E. G. Topper and Mrs. Norman Miller.

TO ENTERTAIN AT DINNER AT COLONIAL INN

Mrs. Harold Hyde of Bay City, Michigan, has been visiting her parents, Prof. and Mrs. H. C. Baldwin. Mr. Hyde joined his wife in a visit over the Fourth and week-end here. FULL PROGRAM OF CHAUTAUQUA IS COMPLETED

Five Days Of Fine Entertainment To Begin
Tues., July 15

Plans are progressing for a week of enjoyment and entertainment at the Community Chautauqua. A varied and modern program is to be presented. The opening evening, July 15th, a delightful comedy, "Tea for Three," will be given. This play had a long and successful run at the Maxine Elliot Theater in New York followed by a successful season in Chicago. The second day is a treat for music lovers. The International Opera and Concert Company, directed by the famous Alexius Baas, gives us a wealth of music. They present concerts of old masters, and of the modern American composers, ending with a presentation of the ever fascinating opera, "Faust." The third day, music in a lighter and more popular vein is furnished by the "Dixie Merry-makers". In the evening one of our most gifted lecturers, Hal P. Denton, takes us behind the scenes in Washington. Mr. Denton was a journalist in the confidence of Roosevelt, back in the days when he was head of the Police Department in New York City, as well as when he was president. The fourth day there are to be two plays, "Back Home and How," a comedy full of fun and thrills, by Fred Ballard, is to be given in the afternoon. In the evening comes perhaps the greatest event of the week—Channing Pollock's famous and startling drama, "The Enemy." This play has attracted probably more attention than any other of recent years. It played on Broadway for over a year to packed houses. The fifth and last day there is more music of a still different nature, and then, the final lecture. This last event is an opportunity for Dixon bird lovers. M. R. S. Wallace, until recently an ornithologist, in the employ of the Federal Government, is to give his lecture on "Birds." He is one of our best authorities on this subject, and it is not often that such a man is available for lectures in a city the size of Dixon.

Last, but by no means least are the eight days of entertainment for the children, July 12th to 19th. All who have not had their fourteenth birthday may attend the first three days free as guests of the chautauqua. There will be a week trim full of good times for the little folks. All of this is made possible by a few big visioned and altruistic citizens of Dixon who deserve our cooperation and our gratitude.

THE Y. W. M. S. OF ST. PAUL'S CHURCH TO MEET

The Y. W. M. S. of St. Paul's Lutheran church will meet Tuesday evening with Miss Eleanor Powell, 1716 Second street. The leaders for the meeting will be Miss Bernice Good and Miss Clara Koepfer and the hostesses will be Miss Powell and Miss Florence Koepfer.

MR. AND MRS. JULIAN ENTERTAIN OVER FOURTH

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Julian entertained at their home, 805 Broadway street over the Fourth of July. Charles Schaller, Mr. and Mrs. John Seeliger and son and Mr. and Mrs. George Hartman of Minneapolis. Mrs. Hartman before her marriage was Miss Loretta Julian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julian.

LADIES G. A. R. TO MEET MONDAY EVENING

The Ladies of the G. A. R. Circle will meet Monday evening in G. A. R. hall. A large attendance is desired as there is to be balloting and initiation.

WON BEAUTY TITLE BY DEFAULT

She Became "Miss America" When Title Holder Was Disqualified

It was not in the eyes of the judges, but in a light of subsequent developments that Miss Margaret Ekdahl, pictured here, was chosen the new "Miss America" and winner of the International Beauty Pageant at Miami, Fla. Margaret was given only third honors when the original decisions were made, but now has captured the title through the disqualification of the first and second prize winners. The 18 year old blonde from Tampa, however, still has a claim to being the "fairest of the fair," for her more comely competitors had been unfair in declaring their marital and residential status.

FERRIS HINDS EMPLOYED ON "DIAMOND C."

Ferris Hinds of this city is now employed on the steamship "Diamond C." a vessel plying between Seattle, Wash., and Alaskan ports. He has made one round trip and likes the work. His letter states that he is enjoying the scenery and has gained weight since leaving Dixon.

THE FRIENDLY FIVE FLYER

Good will ambassador for FRIENDLY FIVE SHOES

The above photograph shows the new "Friendly Flier" which arrived in Dixon Thursday. This is one of the most unusual cars ever seen in Dixon inasmuch as it is of special construction throughout. This car was built for the makers of "Friendly Five" shoes, the Jarman Shoe Company of Nashville, Tenn., by Glenn Curtiss, the well-known designer and builder of aeroplanes. It is made of aeroplane construction and is exceedingly light. This car is making a coast to coast trip in the interest of "Friendly Five" shoes. The host of the "Friendly Flier" while in Dixon was Bowman Bros. Shoe Store. Bowman Bros. have handled "Friendly Five" shoes in Dixon since opening their store last April.

The "Friendly Flier," due to its aeroplane construction with full stream line effect, is exceptionally fast and is capable of a road speed of 75 miles per hour with the Master 6 Buick. Glenn Curtiss put one of these Aerocars behind a Stutz and drove it 110 miles an hour at Daytona Beach, but Mr. Dean, who drives the "Friendly Flier," says that this is a little too fast for him. However, on several test runs from the factory before sending the "Friendly Flier" out into the territory, this car averaged 75 miles an hour.

One of the unusual features of this car is the broadcasting of a 30-minute program by electrical transcription. Francis Craig and his "Friendly Five" Orchestra were heard throughout the streets of Dixon Thursday, as some of the newest music was put on the air. Not the least among the number of musical selections played was the new "Friendly Five" song, and before the program had been on very long, nearly everyone was whistling this catchy air.

As the "Friendly Flier" calls on each dealer in each town where "Friendly Five" shoes are sold, the dealer is invited to see a special moving picture inside of the "Friendly Flier," which shows the construction of "Friendly Five" shoes from the bare last to the finished product. Samples of the new line of "Friendly Five" shoes are also carried in the "Friendly Flier," so that the dealer in each city may select the very latest styles for his customers.

Both the makers of "Friendly Five" shoes and their Dixon dealer, Bowman Bros., are to be complimented on this splendid piece of equipment, and we hope that the "Friendly Flier" will entertain us again at an early date.

TEMPER AND THE HEART.

One of the unfair things about this modern world is that while it is constantly devising new ways to make a man lose his temper, it is also putting him under an ever-increasing compulsion of keeping control of himself.

Dr. W. J. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., in a recent speech before the American Medical Association at Detroit, suggests that one reason for the prevalence of heart disease today may be the stern control over the emotions made necessary by conditions of modern life.

As a case in point, Dr. Mayo remarks that many surgeons die of heart disease. The surgeon, he points out, practices a profession in which ironclad control of the emotions is absolutely necessary. This, in turn, puts an extra strain on the heart—and the strain finally exacts a penalty.

The surgeon, however, isn't the only unlucky one. Probably every one of us has to exercise more self-restraint, in the ordinary round of daily living, than our grandfathers had to exercise. There are more things to bother us, and we have more reasons for repression.

Consider the things that can arise in the course of a day to jar a man's temper—the little things only, not counting major catastrophes.

A man gets out of bed and steps into the shower. Just as a nicely-modulated spray is coursing down his back someone downstairs turns on the cold water, and the bather gets half-scalded, without warning.

He quits his shower and goes to shave. There he discovers that his razor blade is dull and that he has no other, so he must painfully scrape his face with a dull blade. This job finished, he goes to dress. A shoe-string breaks, a collar-button rolls under the dresser, or he discovers, too late, that a button is missing from the sleeve of his shirt.

Then, after breakfast, he starts out for work. He has to run to catch his street car and when he gets to his corner, after a tough sprint, the motorman fails to see him and the car doesn't stop. Finally he gets to his office. It is too hot, he turns on an electric fan and the fan sweeps all the papers on his desk off onto the floor. He goes out for lunch at noon, stands in a hot crowd for ten minutes before he can get a seat and then gets a plate of liver and onions, which he abhors, instead of the egg salad which he ordered. He goes back to work, and—but why carry his misadventures any farther? It is obvious, surely, that life can be full of a million petty annoyances, and it is a rare day that doesn't bring at least three or four of them in a bunch.

Now all of this wouldn't be so bad if we could get some outlet for our irritation. But we can't. Swearing is considered bad form, and there are usually women around anyhow. One can't stamp one's foot in wrath, as a child does, nor can one throw things or paw the air in energetic anger. There is nothing to do but grin and bear it—and some days that is pretty hard to do.

Dr. Mayo must be right. Keeping our tempers is bad for us. But we have to do it.

THE PLIGHT OF LINDY'S SON.

It occurs to us that this small son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh is going to have quite a tough row to hoe during his childhood.

To be sure, there are probably at least a million boys in America who think that Lindbergh would be a perfect man to have for a father. And the youngster will have all the advantages that wealth and social position can bring him.

But there's one thing he'll have a tough time getting, and that's privacy. Any newspaper photographer today would cheerfully pay a thousand dollars for a picture of the young gentleman, and the situation won't ease off much as he grows older. His slightest doings, for years, will be chronicled in the press at great length.

The caravan that now was bound across the Persian open ground was very queer to look upon. It puzzled everyone. The mules that carried all the crowd were small but, stepped on, rather proud. 'Twas very plain to see the trip would be a lot of fun.

Each little mule, across his back had baskets. What a funny pack. Of course they all were strapped on tight, just so they couldn't slip. The baskets gently bobbed around each time a mule's foot left the ground. The bobbing, though, was fun enough to make a pleasant trip.

The Travel Man held to a smile as on they went mile after mile. The Times, in the baskets, looked as funny as could be. "Come on and join us," Cappy cried. "We're sure you'll enjoy this ride." "I'd rather walk," came the reply. "Don't worry over me."

The Elburz mountains, right nearby, seemed towering 'way up in the sky. "Oh, I would like to climb some peak," cried Cappy. "Bet I could!" "Oh, do be quiet," Cappy said. "Some queer thoughts pop into your head. In everything that can be done you always think you're good."

It wasn't very long until the Travel Man had had his fill of walking, so he hopped upon a funny little mule. "I'm weary," said he, with a smile. "And so I think I'll ride a while. 'Twas mighty hot while walking, but I'll soon be nice and cool."

Soon after that they reached a place to stop and rest. Each Tiny's face spread in a smile. "Here's where we eat," cried one. The Travel Man cried, "Follow me, and we will have some milk and tea." They quickly scrambled from the little baskets, one by one.

The stopping place was quite a sight to look upon in broad daylight. 'Twas where all tourists stopped to eat and take a little rest. All caravans that passed this way would stop and pass some time away. The folks who ran it were in funny Persian costumes dressed.

Up to a table all the bunch soon gathered for a bit of lunch. "We'll all take milk," said Scouty, "and a sandwich, if you please. In fact, I could eat more than one. Oh, isn't this a lot of fun? We're rather tired from riding. Now we all can rest in ease."

And so they ate and shortly it had every Tiny feeling fit. The Travel Man said, "How about some fruit? Sounds good to me." Great plates of grapes were then brought out and they were fine, without a doubt. Soon Cappy said, "Oh gracious! I'm as filled as I can be."

The hung around the spot about an hour and then they started out again upon their journey. Every Tiny was set to take in all the sights around as they were carried 'cross the ground. The Travel Man said, "We'll soon reach a town you'll like. I'll bet."

Then to a group of trees they came. Said Cappy, "Say! Is that a game that bunch of men are playing? Look! They're climbing 'way up high." And, sure enough, the men with ease, were climbing all around the trees. The Travel Man said, "I'll explain about it, bye and bye."

They watched the men a little while. The Travel Man, then, with a smile, said, "They are getting silkworms. Don't they do their task with ease. They use the silk in lots of ways. That's why they work here days and days. I don't suppose you Times knew that silkworms cling to trees."

FARRAGUT'S BIRTH

On July 5, 1801, David Glasgow Farragut, called the most famous of American naval officers, was born near Knoxville, Tenn., the son of a Scotch immigrant who had taken an active part in the Revolutionary War.

When 9 years old young Farragut was adopted by Commander Porter and two years later entered the navy as a midshipman. After serving in subordinate capacities on various vessels and in various parts of the world he was raised to the rank of commander in 1841. Soon thereafter he distinguished himself in the Mexican War by maintaining a strict blockade of the port of Tuxpan.

Though bound to the south by birth and strong family ties Farragut remained loyal to the Union at the outbreak of the Civil War, removed from his southern residence and offered his services to the government. Placed in command of a blockading squadron of 17 vessels he brought his flotilla past the Confederate batteries at New Orleans and completely destroyed their fleet of 13 gunboats and iron-clads.

His later achievements consisted of the capture of Vicksburg and Port Hudson and in the annihilation of the Confederate fleet in Mobile bay. Congress appointed him vice admiral and later admiral, having created those grades especially for him.

D. W. PONTIUS, PRESIDENT OF THE PACIFIC ELECTRIC RAILWAY, SAYS:

THAT education is the foundation of progress of any nation.

Educational advantages available to the citizens of this country is the factor that has contributed more than any other single element to our high rank among nations of the world.

We may rightfully be proud of our school system and to it we should pay tribute for the large measure of progress and happiness that is our lot as a people and nation.

For still greater progress industry must look upon education and our institutions of learning as a vital part of our industrial success. Business and industrial concerns should continue to increase interest in our public schools and encourage the establishment of curricula that will further fit our boys and girls who have already left the schools to take up industrial work, so they may solve the complex problems of life and permit still better citizenship.

Many of our citizens, through no fault of their own, are sometimes deprived of early schooling to which they are rightly entitled. These young men and women after entering the employ of an industry should be given every opportunity and encouraged to study in order that they may realize their ambition of a broader and fuller life of usefulness and industrial advancement.

Chicago's famous Hunter brothers set a new world record by remaining in the air more than three weeks—far eclipsed all previous marks for endurance refueling flying, as the above figures show. In the top picture Kenneth Hunter is shown making a minor repair on the endurance plane's motor during flight. Just below are the two brothers composing the refueling ship's crew, Walter Hunter (left) and Albert Hunter (right), with H. F. Dorwald, flight secretary, as they packed supplies to be taken up to the time flyers. At the left are former world record holders, Forest O'Brine and Dale "Red" Jackson.

DANCING JUDITH

BY CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN
COPYRIGHT 1930 BY CHELSEA HOUSE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JUDITH GRANT, artist's model, lives in Greenwich Village with CHUMMY MORLEY, a lovely girl who lost her memory when her lover, ALAN STEYNE, went away seven years ago. Steyne returns but Chummy fails to recognize him, and he and Judith fall in love. He tells Judith he never loved Chummy and never knew Chummy loved him; but Chummy's memory returns suddenly and he feels obligated to ask her to marry him. Judith accepts the offer of BRUCE GIDEON, vice-hanneter, to star her in a musical show, and begins taking dancing lessons. She refuses to listen to Steyne's warning that Gideon's intentions are not honorable. Then, by chance, she hears Gideon tell VINCENT STORMAN, a painter, that he admires her intensely, but that she "is not the sort of girl one could marry." She runs home in a rage, and finds Steyne there, waiting to meet Chummy.

CHAPTER XXI

"JUDY!" cried Steyne. "What's the matter? Don't do that! Oh, please don't!"

But she went on sobbing. "Judy, I can't bear it! It is only that you're overjoyed, or is there something else?"

She burst into a string of inarticulate sentences, her voice muffled in her hands. Alan came nearer, but could only make out the words, repeated over and over again:

"Horrible world! Horrible world!"

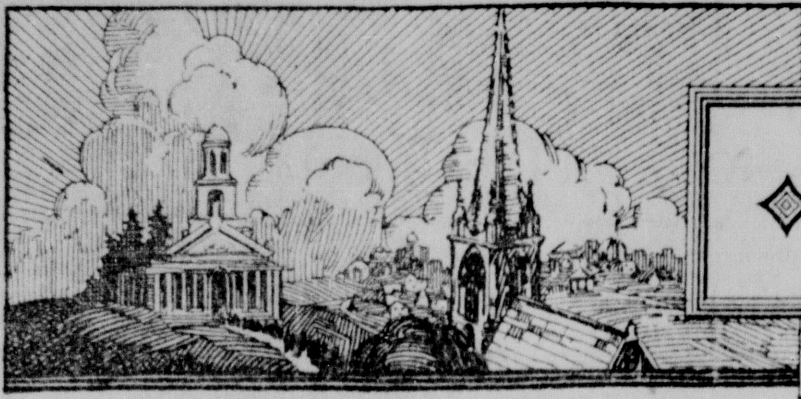

His heart stood still for a moment. Then he dropped on his knees beside her and took her in his strong arms.

"Judy, little Judy, tell me all about it!"

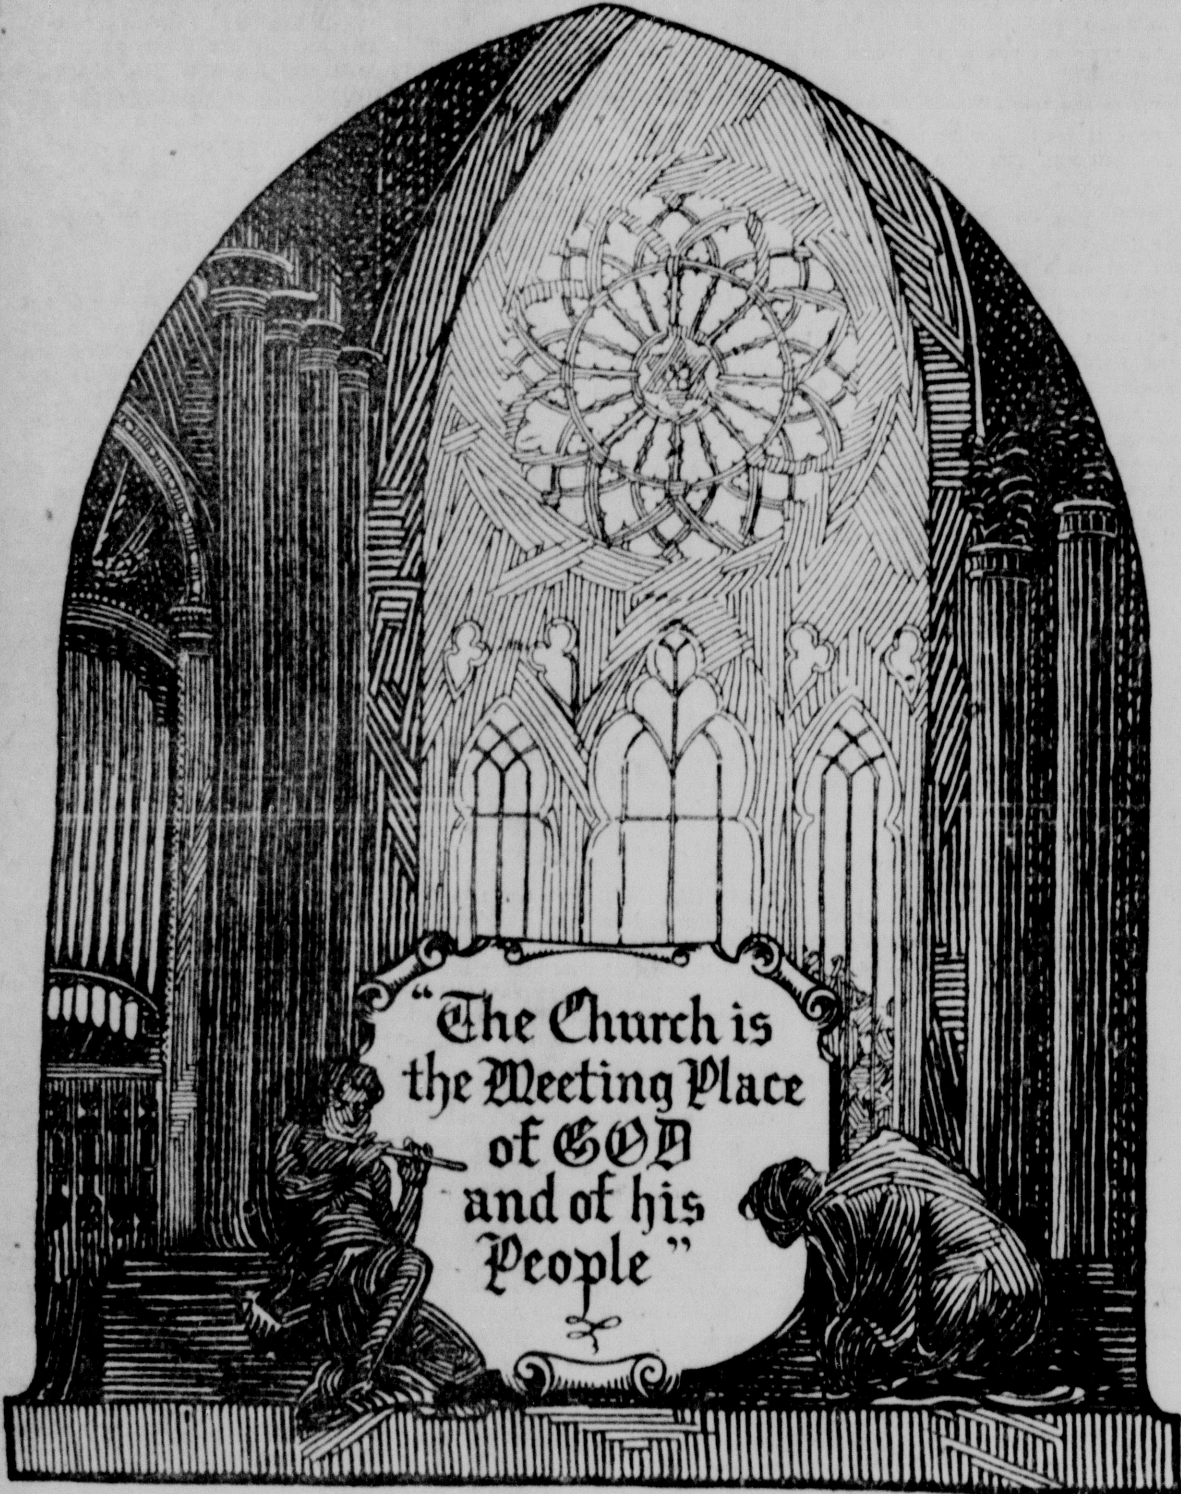

His voice was as tender as a woman's.

"Nothing to tell," she blubbered. "I hate everybody!"

"Oh, no, Judy—you don't hate me! Sweetest, dearest girl, let me tell you what it is. You're killing yourself with all this work, and with trying to

THE DAY OF LIBERTY

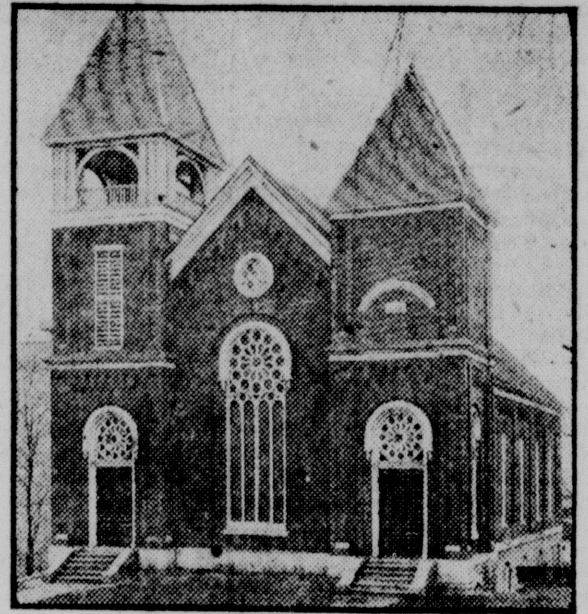

"Then shall the People of the Lord go down to the Gates."
—Judges 5-11.

"The Israelites had been shut in for a long time by Sisera's army and the prophetess has roused the nation and scattered the enemy and now she is giving to them the assurance of their liberty by pointing out to them the open gates and their freedom from bondage."

Yesterday was the day we celebrated as the birthday of national freedom. Today we would seek to show that we have been enfranchised spiritually by our Lord Jesus Christ. As Americans we can cross the thresholds of homes that are free because of the price by our sires. Because of their shed blood we are dowered with all the rights and boons of free citizenship. But we have also a spiritual heritage, purchased by Precious Blood, and given to us by Him who died through which He invests with all the power given by God to him. That authority is our enabling power to discriminate between right and wrong, being made wise by His holy word and spirit, directing our paths and determining our duty. This we are reminded that we are soldiers and therefore antagonistic to the unfruitful works of darkness. Let us strain every nerve to rescue our fellow men from the lure and fascination of sin. Let us further our Lord's empire with all the energy we possess. This is the only war which is always righteous and worthwhile. Let us go down to the gates and exercise the privileges of our freedom.

There are at least four mistakes in the above picture. They may pertain to grammar, history, etiquette, drawing or whatnot. See if you can find them. Then look at the scrambled word below—and unscramble it, by switching the letters around. Grade yourself 20 for each of the mistakes you find, and 20 for the word if you unscramble it. Monday we'll explain the mistake and tell you the word. Then you can see how near a hundred you beat.

THURSDAY'S CORRECTIONS

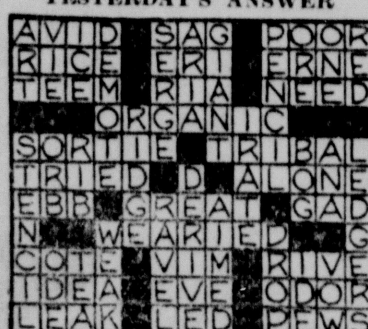

(1) Edinburgh is spelled incorrectly. (2) The tune is, "The Campbells Are Coming," instead of "The Camels." (3) The notes should be played on the pipe of the front end of the bag, instead of the part leading to the mouth. (4) Piper's kilts are of a straight Scotch plaid minus the fancy ringlets. (5) The scrambled word is PARTICLE.

If one hold to his highest sense of selfhood, he will bring out a worthy life proportionately to the rightness of his ideals. While one can scarcely do more than hold true to his highest ideals, he may constantly improve them, and thus open the way to continuous progress in unfolding the true man. under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. The headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

The other day an express train rounded a curve and hit an automobile. A physician who happened to be a passenger examined the injured driver and sorrowfully exclaimed, "Half alive!" A few hours later the unfortunate traveler died in a hospital of a near-by city, thus paying the penalty for his carelessness and indiscretion.

Newspapers give front page headlines to such events. People read the stories with awe, perhaps with an inward shudder, and silently pray that such a fate will not be their. And so far, so good.

But while thousands are in this way impressed with the fact that they themselves are chronically only about half alive, they do not seem to grasp the fact that carelessness and indiscretion are leading them to an untimely death quite as inevitably as they did the train-racing automobilist. And thus far, not so good.

A tremendous number of persons are more directly responsible for their premature death than is nature itself, which usually gets all the blame. And being half alive is one of the popular ways of quietly attaining such an undesired end.

For instance, on the next trip down town, if you happen to live in a large community, observe the people whom you meet on the street. A careful inspection will indicate beyond question that a number of them do not present the appearance of vigor and vitality usually associated with abundant health. Many of them, and perhaps more than would be willing to admit it, are either in or approaching the half-alive class.

Now it is quite true that this world is a wonderful place in which to be, even though one is but fifty per cent physically efficient. But on the other hand it is a marvelous adventure to travel life's present-day pathway with a body fully alive.

One should not forget that health, not money nor position, is the first essential of success, the mainstay of real happiness, and that half-aliveness is a poor substitute.

Nature, while being an exacting task master, is not a hard one. It demands that the body daily receive fresh air, exercise, sufficient food (neither too much nor too little), proper elimination and adequate sleep. It also insists upon the absence of excesses of all kinds. All of which is indeed little to ask for the joy of possessing a one hundred per cent efficient physiological economy.

This being so, why do so few people strive for the ultimate in health, happiness and long life? It is a glorious objective. Begin by getting out of the half-alive class if you are in it. The chance is at your door and there is no better way to start.

Coste Gives Ocean Plane 15-Hour Test
Le Bourget, France, July 3.—(AP)—Captain Dieudonne Coste and his mechanic, Maurice Bellonte, who are planning a trans-Atlantic flight to New York for the next few days, took off at 6:52 A. M. (12:52 A. M., E. S. T.) today on what was announced as a 15-hour test flight.

The plane, the Question Mark, said to be loaded with 700 gallons of gasoline—not enough for a flight to New York—rose after a short run and after circling the field rose gradually to a height of 1,500 feet.

It was understood that Coste, who holds the world's long distance flight record, would make a tour of France. Previously friends of the airman had said that his greatest desire was to complete his American trip on July 4, American Independence Day.

AN OVEN UNIFORMLY HOT A KITCHEN UNIFORMLY COOL

That's what we can promise you with the new Estate Gas Range. Because this is the range with the "double-boiler" oven that distributes the heat uniformly in every part. And, with the Heat-Relaining (Insulated) Oven that doesn't overheat the kitchen.

Now think of all these other features you get in the modern Estate: ThermEstate Oven Heat Control, so you can bake by time and temperature; oven racks that slide in and out like cabinet drawers; Rigidraw smokeless broiler pan; stay-cool door handles; easy-to-clean, one-piece cooking-top; solid enamel panel behind gas cocks, concealing all piping;

convenient utensil drawer; vitreous enamel finish, inside and out; rounded corners, with every nut, bolt and hinge concealed. Certainly, cooking on the Estate is a delight instead of a task!

A few hours later the unfortunate traveler died in a hospital of a near-by city, thus paying the penalty for his carelessness and indiscretion.

Newspapers give front page headlines to such events. People read the stories with awe, perhaps with an inward shudder, and silently pray that such a fate will not be their. And so far, so good.

But while thousands are in this way impressed with the fact that they themselves are chronically only about half alive, they do not seem to grasp the fact that carelessness and indiscretion are leading them to an untimely death quite as inevitably as they did the train-racing automobilist. And thus far, not so good.

A tremendous number of persons are more directly responsible for their premature death than is nature itself, which usually gets all the blame. And being half alive is one of the popular ways of quietly attaining such an undesired end.

For instance, on the next trip down town, if you happen to live in a large community, observe the people whom you meet on the street. A careful inspection will indicate beyond question that a number of them do not present the appearance of vigor and vitality usually associated with abundant health. Many of them, and perhaps more than would be willing to admit it, are either in or approaching the half-alive class.

Now it is quite true that this world is a wonderful place in which to be, even though one is but fifty per cent physically efficient. But on the other hand it is a marvelous adventure to travel life's present-day pathway with a body fully alive.

One should not forget that health, not money nor position, is the first essential of success, the mainstay of real happiness, and that half-aliveness is a poor substitute.

Nature, while being an exacting task master, is not a hard one. It demands that the body daily receive fresh air, exercise, sufficient food (neither too much nor too little), proper elimination and adequate sleep. It also insists upon the absence of excesses of all kinds. All of which is indeed little to ask for the joy of possessing a one hundred per cent efficient physiological economy.

This being so, why do so few people strive for the ultimate in health, happiness and long life? It is a glorious objective. Begin by getting out of the half-alive class if you are in it. The chance is at your door and there is no better way to start.

Coste Gives Ocean Plane 15-Hour Test
Le Bourget, France, July 3.—(AP)—Captain Dieudonne Coste and his mechanic, Maurice Bellonte, who are planning a trans-Atlantic flight to New York for the next few days, took off at 6:52 A. M. (12:52 A. M., E. S. T.) today on what was announced as a 15-hour test flight.

The plane, the Question Mark, said to be loaded with 700 gallons of gasoline—not enough for a flight to New York—rose after a short run and after circling the field rose gradually to a height of 1,500 feet.

It was understood that Coste, who holds the world's long distance flight record, would make a tour of France. Previously friends of the airman had said that his greatest desire was to complete his American trip on July 4, American Independence Day.

AN OVEN UNIFORMLY HOT A KITCHEN UNIFORMLY COOL

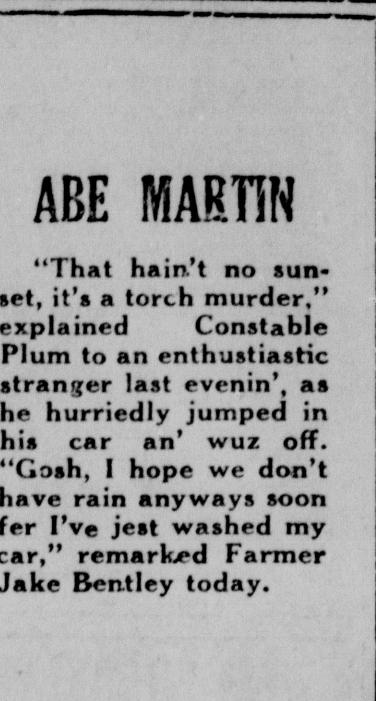

That's what we can promise you with the new Estate Gas Range. Because this is the range with the "double-boiler" oven that distributes the heat uniformly in every part. And, with the Heat-Relaining (Insulated) Oven that doesn't overheat the kitchen.

Now think of all these other features you get in the modern Estate: ThermEstate Oven Heat Control, so you can bake by time and temperature; oven racks that slide in and out like cabinet drawers; Rigidraw smokeless broiler pan; stay-cool door handles; easy-to-clean, one-piece cooking-top; solid enamel panel behind gas cocks, concealing all piping;

convenient utensil drawer; vitreous enamel finish, inside and out; rounded corners, with every nut, bolt and hinge concealed. Certainly, cooking on the Estate is a delight instead of a task!

Come in—see this complete line of handsome, new Estates—learn how easily you can have one in your kitchen.
